Do you want to get a head start on freshman college writing course requirements? Are you a high-achieving student currently in grades 9-12? High School Students can Dual Enroll at MSU! Summer 2016’s featured course: WRA 195H - Writing: Major Topics in American Thought

This course is a hybrid, designed with three face-to-face sessions and additional online assignments and meetings via D2L/Zoom. Students will need access to a computer and the Internet.

Professor: Dr. Kate Fedewa
Dates: Students will attend a total of 3 classes, in Novi OR East Lansing

Section 740 in Novi
Tuesdays: July 12, 26, and August 9
MSU Tollgate Education Center,
28115 Meadowbrook Road, Novi, MI 48377

OR

Section 741 at MSU Campus, East Lansing
Thursdays: July 14, 28 and August 11

Time: 10:20 am - 2:10 pm (Students need to bring a lunch to eat during break)

Course Description: This course will engage Dual Enrollment and MSU Honors College students in a conversation regarding their individual identities as writers. Specifically, the course will help students to identify and implement writing strategies appropriate for participation in a variety of communities, including academia. Imagine the world you want to live in. What can you as a writer do to make that world a reality? This course asks you to examine the power of readers and writers and the stories they share. This course challenges students to persuade, to inform, to learn, and to change. During this semester, they will consider how the ways we learn and communicate can shape our decisions and actions. Students will also consider the rhetoric of contemporary American writers in order to theorize how literacy has been tied to statements of belief and calls to action in a variety of cultural communities within the United States.

For more information on WRA 195H as well as other courses, visit:
www.gifted.msu.edu/programs/dual-enrollment/intro-level-courses

View the Dual Enrollment application process at:
www.gifted.msu.edu/programs/dual-enrollment/application-process